

A Guide to YELLing!

By Sam Alexander and Bevan Waite

Deans: Coordinate all activities during the CON, makes sure that all events happen close to, if not, on time and must support/help all YELLers. The Dean basically leads the whole CON through the schedule. Most labor intensive, need to do work on schedule with Co-Co-Co's before con and also work all the time during con and stay till everyone goes home. 2 People.

Cooks: Cook all meals during the con. Helps coordinate cleaning efforts for all meals, but does not have to clean. Usually extremely labor intensive during con, though work can be sporadic. Also has to make and coordinate gathering the menu before con. 2 or 3 people.

Workshop Coordinator: Contacts attendees to make sure that workshop leaders are found and that there is a mix of activities including energetic, talking, and craft making. Moderate level of labor required, as the WC does much of their job before a CON. 1 person.

Worship Coordinator(s): Plans workshops for Friday and Saturday nights (and Sunday night for Elections CON). May also plan workshops for mornings. This job involves tons of creativity and can be done by one central person or by one person coordinating a group. Council has asked to see a mix of old traditional workshops and new exciting possibilities. Involves planning before and bringing supplies to CON. Medium level of labor required. 1 or many persons.

Tough Group Leader: A Touch Group Leader is responsible for providing activities for their touch group to do during touch group time. Activities can range from playing a game to holding a discussion to a bonding activity or more! A Touch Group Leader must be forceful when it comes to cleaning up the kitchen and on Sunday morning. Creativity is a plus, but not a requirement. Medium level of labor, as the book Deep Fun can help with activity planning. Several persons

Gopher: May makes trips to get necessities for conferees/cooks a couple of times during a CON. Example: goes to get extra ingredients for food preparation. This person must be a licensed driver, over 18 and have their own car. Low level of labor required. 1 person
